

to bring all
ghosts together
for a GOOD FUTURE

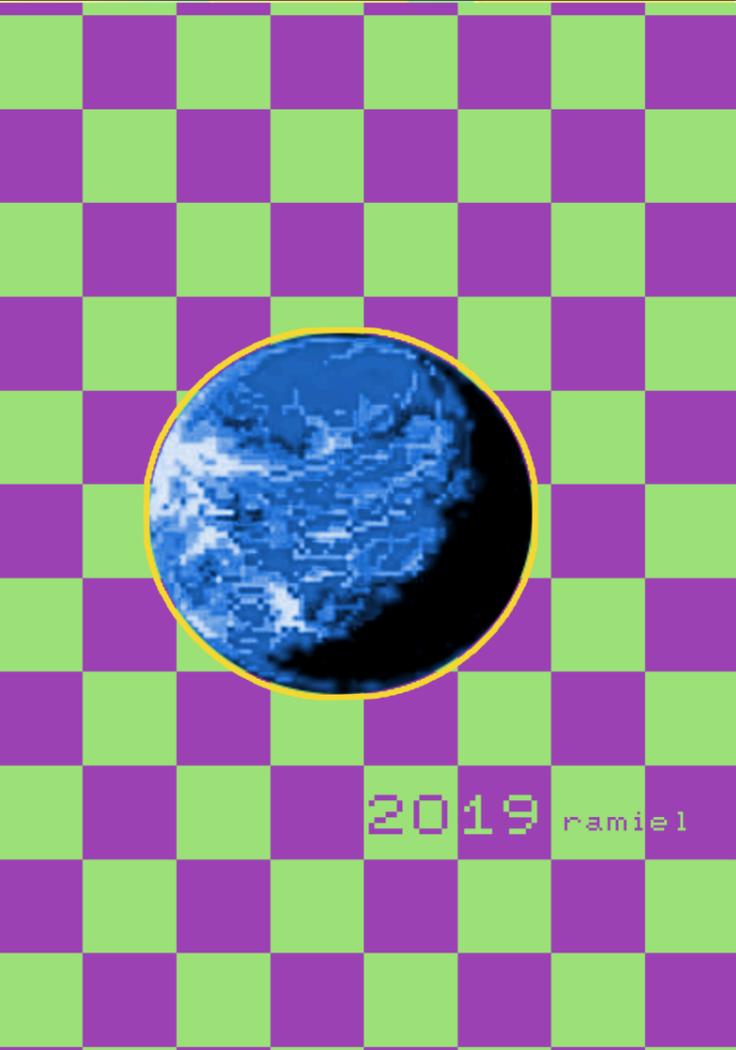

but the story
goes... there were many things that are now

now, I hold fast to a NAME, the unflinching of light stealing without trace through the cracks between moments, so that all of time is bathed in the light of something utterly different from what IS my job is to think about "environmental history" which is a kind way of saying:

listen to media, to the EARTH, and tell the stories that hurt ME the most to tell stories that stop me from sleeping at night

MEDIA//
HISTORY

ramiel

historians are tellers of the past

we knit time together stars into constellations...

but the "past" isn't something you can touch or see... what we have left is a tape, books, paper, combs, photos...
